HALLELUJAH
CHRIST IS RISEN

for Uim you

Dear Parishioners

You all realise what a privilege we have in being associated with St Andrew's Killaney as our home church. The marvellous location of the building, the beautifully manicured grass stretching out towards the road, the tower stretching up to the heavens and the warm and tastefully furnished setting- these are the things which most people consider when they think of our church. I do too. But a church is not a building, it is the people who meet there. The church is not on the side of the road from Ballynahinch to Carryduff. The church is in your home and mine.

What difference does such a change of perspective make? May I suggest three as we prepare for our Annual General Meeting on 14th April.

If the Church is truly people then we need to:

Build up the people with as much energy as we strengthen the building: this involves developing new and fresh ways of meeting, worshipping, praying, encouraging and relaxing together so that the body of Christ is built up.

If the Church is truly people then we need to:

Focus efforts on the younger generation who will gradually replace those of us who are older as leaders and supportive members of the church.

If the Church is truly about people then we need to:

Serve people's needs over and above serving the buildings' needs as we become more adventurous in utilising the space we have inherited.

None of this implies even remotely that the care and attention we have rightly paid to the buildings we admire is either misplaced or inappropriate. We could look on it as a family preparing the room for a new baby: the time comes when the room is ready and we need to focus on the new arrival! People not Place.

As I look back on the last year I see great evidence that St Andrew's is living out these purposes day by day.

Whether it is the recent Table Quiz, the Trip to Castle Espie at Christmas, the Parish Picnic or the Sale the focus has been on the people who particulate rather than the financial outcome. We see the sacrifice and effort of the team travelling to Ethiopia with Habitat for Humanity NI, including the huge effort made by family and friends to help the team go.

The rallying around of people at times of need:

No adequate words can be said to describe the shock and sadness we all felt in Killaney when we heard of the death of our recently appointed Church Warden Mr Barry Finlay. The sudden death of such a vibrant and caring individual, who was oblivious to everything but character in those with whom he dealt personally and professionally, left our whole parish and community shocked for months.

Tributes have been paid to Barry far and wide and we were privileged to hold a short vigil in St Andrew's on an evening before the large funeral took pace in Saintfield Presbyterian where his family burial ground was.

Bill and Richard counted it as a privilege to take his place in honour of the man who was due to join the team in Ethiopia few months later: for them we are deeply grateful.

As we look to the year behind us we also see a year in which slow but steady progress has been made in the plans to extend the car park. It is truly surprising the number of approvals we have had to obtain to extend the number of places we can park cars off the road! As we go to the press the final approval is being sought, this time from RCB - who are the titular owners of the Church and Grounds. With that we hope to put the work out to tender to start very soon.

In the course of the year the Church organ was repositioned to give a better sound reproduction and the opportunity taken to add a new base. The use of the hall for the 24:7 prayer vigil in October proved a very moving event for many of our fellow parishioners as a delightful and remarkable peace descended on the people using the room. The Harvest Festival was marked with a wonderful dress by our neighbouring minister the Rev James Hyndman, and a suitably celebratory tea enabled those present to purchase the goods from the harvest for a good cause, this year for Mrs Liz Fleming's trip to Maridi in December. Her report on her return reminded us of the marvellous work which generous and willing people can achieve as they follow God's heart in care for those in need.

An even greater event was the journey mentioned earlier by our men as they went with Willie Nixon and the folks from Drumbeg Area to Ethiopia to help a building project there. We were all very proud of the efforts which Brian, Bill, Raymond, Richard and our guest member Norman put in for the community far away. These were life changing and enhancing moments for these good men.

The break in to the church which took place during the Christmas Tree festival was a sad reminder of the values of those who regard property belonging to other people as being ripe for stealing. The damage has been repaired and we move on.

As we meet for the AGM of our church on Tuesday 14th April at 7.30 pm may I offer my good wishes to those who have served and those who will serve on our Select Vestry in 2015.

Thank you to everyone who gave themselves to the work of the Lord in the year that is past.

Mothers' UNION

Christian care for families

On a blustery evening last month, women from local churches came together in St Ignatius' to celebrate Women's World Day of Prayer. The service was written by Christian women of the Bahamas, and had as the theme, "Jesus said to them, 'Do you know what I have done to you?'"

Our Speaker, Rev Joanne Megarrell, based her address on the humility of Jesus, washing the disciples' feet, setting us an example in serving others. She suggested that we ought to have an MBA ---- 'mop and bucket attitude', willing to do the most meagre jobs.

We are grateful to the ladies from neighbouring churches, who took part in the service, making it an ecumenical occasion. Thank you to our own ladies, who prepared and served the delicious supper, and to those who decorated the church in the bright Caribbean colours of the 700 islands, which comprise the Bahamas. A special word of thanks to Derek, our Sexton and

People's Churchwarden, for all his help and co-operation.

We were delighted that the offering was £522, which will go towards the work of the Movement.

Our next meeting falls on Maundy Thursday (2nd April) when we shall join with others for the Holy Week service.

We are also planning to visit Mount Stewart and Gardens on the afternoon of 9th May. This will be followed by a meal in Harrison's of Greyabbey. We will probably travel in cars. Members of the congregation are very welcome to join us.

Please contact any member of the Mothers' Union if you would like to be included.

Samaritan's Purse update

Denis Carson our local volunteer for Samaritan's Purse has passed on a letter of thanks from them for our support for Operation Christmas Child 2014.

"We very much appreciate your partnership with us through our Project." 8770 boxes were sent to children in Bosnia, Mexico included 68 from our parishes. The NI Total was 42,840 boxes sent variously to Kosovo, Bosnia, Belarus, and Swaziland.

The Impact of a shoebox gift...

"In May last year Serbia was affected by serious flooding, and Samaritan's Purse responded by bringing in essential supplies through local Christian partners." When Christmas came the team brought gifts to the children "we have never experienced such joy! Kids that had lost everything in the floods were absolutely delighted to receive a gift and take it to their empty homes. Many of them we had met before when we brought aid like sugar, pasta flour... the floods had stripped their homes and left disaster.

We drove back home praising God for what he did in this town that had lost hope. Our team has visited and helped hundreds of families. They had the privilege of sharing the gospel with many."

Women's Study Fellowship

On 20 April an open morning is being held at Belfast Bible College. This is to introduce woman to the woman's study Fellowship which takes place each year September to December and January to May. It is for women of all ages and Christian maturity and incorporates teaching and fellowship.

The open morning is from 9:40 to 1:00 pm

Table Quiz

Thank you to everyone who supported the Table Quiz, which was held on 25th March when £344 was raised for church funds. The setting of the Temple Golf and Country Club was very conducive to a pleasant evening with a fine supper provided by the Club.

Regular worshippers were upgraded to first class

The Plate

“Before we pass round the collection plate,” a clergyman told his Sunday morning flock. “I’d like to share with you some old and wise words I once heard many years ago in a country church”:

If ought thou hast to give or lend
This ancient parish church befriend,
If poor but still in spirit willing
Out with thy purse and give a shilling.
But if its depths should be profound
Think of thy God and give a pound.
Look not for a record to be given,
You’ll get a receipt when you get to heaven.

Crackpots

There have always been a few weird people around. I mean people with odd or misguided ideas, or with delusions of grandeur. Some might simply have been harmless eccentrics, while others, arguably, were out and out crackpots.

Such people – often sincere but just plain crazy or wrong-headed – can, by the sheer force of personality, attract a substantial public following and, in some cases, lead people into serious danger.

There is a long and occasionally unfortunate history of strange personalities within the various Christian traditions. Not all of them were heretics or in any sense harmful. Think, for example, of Simeon Stylites (388-459) who simply withdrew from the world and, for thirty seven years, lived out his faith in isolation on the top of a stone pillar.

On the other hand, there have been those who were more dangerously deluded. Two quite alarming characters within the 20th Century come readily to mind. One is the Rev. Sun Myung Moon (1920-2012), from North Korea, who claimed to have had a personal meeting with Jesus on Easter Day 1936. Thereafter he became an active Christian evangelist. This, inevitably, brought him into conflict with the North Korean government. He was later released from prison by UN forces, during the Korean War.

Subsequently his teachings were collected in a text – the Divine Principle – which he claimed both interpreted and completed the Bible. According to this text the world was divided between God centred (American) democracy and Satan centred communism. He further claimed (outrageously) that Jesus was crucified before He could fulfil His divine mission (of raising a God centred family) and, therefore, a second messiah was required. He went on to state - without mentioning his own name -that this second messiah would emerge from Korea. A crackpot? Perhaps it is also worth mentioning that Rev. Moon became the founder of the cultish (and very strong) Unification Church and that he adjusted his notion of a God centred America after being indicted and imprisoned in the US for tax fraud.

The other character I have in mind is the American Pentecostal preacher Jim Jones (1931-1978), who established a ministry centred on faith healing, social service and racial integration, all with a distinctly socialist emphasis. He thus attracted a large, primarily African-American, following to whom he depicted American capitalism as racist and oppressive. Thereafter his story gets rather more contentious.

He proclaimed himself as Christ and, in one sermon, said “You can call me an egomaniac . . . with a messianic complex. I don’t have a complex, honey. I happen to know I’m the messiah.” A crackpot? Things then get a great deal more alarming.

Jones assured his congregation that “evil American capitalism” would suffer nuclear destruction in a Third World War. Almost inevitably he had to flee the country and, in the end, he led over 900 of his followers into mass suicide by cyanide poisoning (on 18 November 1978) in what became known as the Jonestown massacre.

I imagine we all know of other much publicised outspoken preachers and media stars who have landed themselves in financial scandals and other difficulties. Mercifully, we are relatively free of these things in the Anglican tradition and I, for one, am most grateful that we have a reliable written liturgy and an ordained ministry characterised for the most part by clergy with a secure sense of the absolute essence of Christian faith.

Lenten Bookstall

Our thanks go to Richard Ryan at The Book Well (73 Belmont Road) for sourcing all the material for our bookstall and supplying it on a sale or return basis. We also thank everyone in the parish who supported the bookstall, which achieved a sales figure of £131.00, and a resulting small profit of £12.00

St Ignatius' Golf Society Wesley McCamley (Secretary)

The captain, David Nevin, and the members of the Golf Society are looking forward to the new season and driving off at the first tee at Whitehead Golf Club on Thursday 23rd April at 1.30pm. Golfers of all standards are invited to join us every month for a relaxing afternoon of fellowship, friendly competitive golf and a meal afterwards.

The 2015 programme includes two new courses and some old favourites:-

Thursday 23 April	Whitehead @ 2.00pm
Thursday 21 May	Carnalea @ 1.30pm
Thursday 18 June	Spa @ 1.30pm
Thursday 23 July	Lurgan @ 1.30pm
Wednesday 19 August	Kilkeel @ 1.30 pm
Thursday 17 September	Clandeboye (Ava) @ 1.30pm

The members of the Golf Society committee traditionally meet at the Captain's home each year for their pre-season committee meeting and we thank David & Joan Nevin for their excellent hospitality for this year's meeting.

Reading the Bible in Church part 3

PART 3

Finally, your time to read arrives

1. Wait for everyone to settle, especially if sitting down after singing.
2. Allow sufficient time after you have announced the passage (if required) for everyone to find the starting point – giving a page number is helpful.
3. It may be helpful to give a one-sentence summary of what you are about to read.
4. Read at a good pace, but don't rush, even if you feel nervous. You are trying to convey the meaning as well as the words of the passage.
5. Remember, you want the people at the back to hear you clearly.
6. When you are finished, remember to add the customary words, and walk carefully back to your place.
7. Afterwards, thank God for the privilege of reading this special book.

We hope that our hints have helped you to read the Bible in public well.

- Will you feel encouraged to read a little of the Scriptures each day?
- Would you like to be part of a worldwide partnership that seeks to place the Scriptures in the hands of everyone, regardless of their language, in an appropriate medium, and at a price they can afford?

The Bible Society in Northern Ireland helped make this possible for hundreds of thousands of people last year. Contact us for our free Word at Work magazine that tells you about this work.

BSNI, 27 HOWARD STREET BELFAST BT1 6NB Tel. 028 9032 6577 E-mail GSec@bsni.co.uk Web site www.bsni.co.uk

If you would like to try reading at worship, please speak to Marie Mack, Joan Nevin or Stephen Lowry.

Carryduff Sunday School

The children attending Sunday school have decided to use this year's collection to help a family in Africa. The money they have collected will be donated to the Send a Cow charity and the children would like to send a little donkey and a chicken to a family in need. The collection will be counted again in May and by that time we may even have enough for an extra chicken! Well done to all the children, this is a very generous and thoughtful gift.

Holiday: There will be no Sunday school on 5th and 12th April as local schools will also be on holiday, we hope to see you all back in Sunday School on the 19th April.

End of year Treat: Watch this space for news of the end of year treat in June. Details of the treat will be in next month's magazine but don't worry children it will not involve walking to McDonalds this year. Details will be in next month's magazine.

Easter Eggs! For the love of chocolate

Are you going to indulge in Easter chocolate this year? Ever wonder where it first came from? We have the Aztecs of equatorial Central America to thank: it was they who discovered that a certain tree, later named Theobroma Cacao, was well worth cultivating. The Aztecs considered chocolate the 'drink of the gods' (Theo means God, broma means drink; hence the name). The Aztecs credited chocolate for everything from spiritual wisdom to sexual prowess; Emperor Montezuma is reported to have drunk more than 50 flagons of the stuff each day.

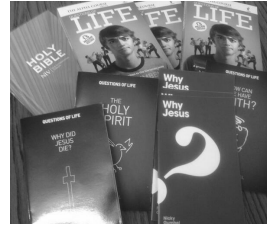

The Spanish explorer Cortes also called it 'the divine drink', and the conquistadors brought chocolate back to Spain. From there it travelled north, and reached England about 1849. It was first served as a drink, until during the Industrial Revolution it caught the attention of several leading Quaker families, (including the Cadburys, the Frys, the Rowntress and the Terrys. It was the Fry family who created the first 'eating' chocolate... and the rest, as they say, is history. Today the world eats about 600,000 tons a year. Enjoy your Easter egg!

“I was Liam Neeson’s Body Double”

Everyone knows that John Bunyan wrote a famous novel, Pilgrim's Progress, but did you know that he also wrote a sequel? It is called 'Christiana' and it is the story behind a movie made in Northern Ireland in the late seventies. The film - featuring contributions from local actors, and headlining is a very young Liam Neeson and his body double (who will be present) - will be shown to the Fellowship Lunch on Wednesday 29th April. If you haven't been to one of these midweek meals before, this might be a very good day to come. We will eat and watch the movie on the big screen in the Mitchell Room. Everyone is welcome: please let us know you are coming so we can prepare food for you to eat (free of charge). A list is available in the Jeremy Taylor Chapel. Gather IN THE MITCHELL ROOM at 11.30.

Alpha Course 2015

On Sunday 26th April a series of Sunday Nights starts as we explore together the Christian Faith. Suitable for people who know nothing about Christianity, as well as suiting those who already know a little and want to find out more it takes place in the church.

What happens? Following a short informal welcome at 6.30, a video presentation of a part of the Alpha Course is shown on the screens. Afterwards we move into the more relaxed surroundings of the hall for light refreshments and a guided discussion.

What does it cost? NOTHING. If you really want to you can purchase one of the books on sale or offer to help with the food.

When is it over? Depending on what you mean its over just after 8.00 or before the summer holidays.

Who can come? I hope you can!

See you on Sunday 26th at 6.30 pm in Carryduff Church.

20th March Mabel Walshe, Connor Road, Ballynahinch
(Service in Killaney Church)

23rd March Courtney Fleming, Drumalig Road

In Memoriam

The death of Mrs Mabel Walshe brought to an end a long relationship she had with St Andrew's. Mabel was reputedly the oldest "parishioner" (born 1920) connected with the parish, although she became a member of Magheradroll Parish in Ballynahinch following her move to the town some nine years ago.

It was a privilege for the church family to be able to host Rev Canon Warren Russell and the Rev Simon Woodburne who conducted her funeral service. She was laid to rest in the adjoining graveyard.

Mr Courtney Fleming passed away peacefully following a short illness in hospital. He spent his entire career working for the company finally known as Dalgety's who were involved in selling and distributing farm feeds. As sales director there he insisted on keeping out on the road to keep in touch with the people he supplied. An avid traveller and keen rugby fan, Courtney also was a part time poultry farmer at the home which he extended and improved at Drumalig. Courtney is survived by his wife Jo and their sons Ian and Roddy and six grandchildren. The service at Roselawn was well attended and his ashes were buried the following day at Killaney.

MECO: Middle East Christian Outreach

A visit to church services by Don Howe who will share his role in MECO as they seek to help people who follow Christ continue in their faith though living in very hostile regions for Christians. Don will speak to both churches at the morning services on 12th April at 10.30 and 12.00. Please make an extra effort to come for our visitor., Stephen will lead the service.
