Crossroads June 2018

Dear Friends

Let the walking begin

With the long cold wet winter now well behind us, the prospect of a long healthy summer cheers our hearts. No more cold mornings, no more dreary damp days, no bitter evenings . . well you can hope, can't you! One of the invisible parts of the stories about Jesus in the Bible is the fact that he walked everywhere. Not for him the luxury of transport; the only time we have evidence of his being transported was the Palm Sunday Procession into Jerusalem on a donkey; and that was a slow journey.

waiting

Did you ever wonder how Jesus got to know his disciples so well? He walked with them! There is something about a group pausing on a journey while one of the group adjusts his sandals, or wraps a bandage around a blister, which forces people to respect one another. To give each other the time of day.

watching

You see more when you are a passenger than when a driver. And you can observe so much more when you walk. In the rush of daily life, we often do not see the needs of people around us! How much life would improve if we occasionally walked with one another?

wondering

There is a pregnant pause, a loaded silence when walking with others. We can feel threatened by it, or we can embrace the shared stillness. We are moved to spill the beans on our latest hangups or problems. We are willing to 'waste' time together, "Sure, we were out for a walk anyway." As you take advantage of the glorious summer weather, I hope you can waste time with friends, walk roads with new friends, and wander wherever Christ leads you to go.

COVER:

David Gill who made the new frame-maker stand beside the completed new signage at St. Andrew's, Killaney on Sunday 20th May.

Also included is the newly redesign sign at Carryduff added in April.

The signs were supplied by Caughey Design & Print: www.caughey-print.com

New Logo and New Look

We hope you like the new look given to our signs, magazine pages and logos. We thank the vestry teams in our churches for their vision and passion to present the parishes with fresh signs, and to Caughey Design and Print for involvement in the production of the signs.

The Kite and Shield Logos will gradually appear on our written materials. We hope it makes our message clear; that the cross is at the heart of our mission as parishes.

June Service Themes

Week 1: 3rd June 2 Corinthians 4:5-12

The imperfection of the preacher does not negate the perfection of the message

"Poor preachers present priceless power"

Week 2: 10th June 2 Corinthians 4:13 - 5:1

Belief is not undermined by the brokenness of our present lives

"You ain't seen nothing yet!"

Week 3: 17th June 2 Corinthians 5:6-10, (11-13), 14-17

Life in Christ has a different outlook v7/16, a different destiny v9/10, and a different motive v 14/15

"Re-cycled or Re-created?"

Week 4: 24th June 2 Corinthians 6:1-13

The danger of receiving God's grace in vain

"Much Received, Much Expected"

Final Lord's Supper of the Season

On Sunday 17th June at 6:30 pm a light meal will be offered in the Mitchell Room. During this we will share the Lord's Supper by way of a celebration at the last of our regular Evening Services before the summer break.

We would really like you to sign up for the meal both to help us cater, and to give you a chance to offer your help.

Evening services will resume, DV, in September.

Carryduff Children's Day

Once a year we invite the children of the parish to lead worship and share their faith with the congregation. This year this takes place on our regular Sunday Special Sunday 24th June.

The Sunday School children have their own special event on Sunday 10th June with a trip to Funtastics after a brief role in the service at 10.30 am.

Killaney Children's Day

We have a great team of leaders and children at Killaney and we look forward to hearing from them at our Children's Day on Sunday 24th June. The special service brings to a close the weekly Sunday School for the year. We hope the young members will lead in prayers, leading worship, and sharing the refreshments that day.

Summer Edition

The church magazine is produced in a double edition for the summer. To receive this by email or MMS message, please contact Stephen by phone 078 345 84932 or stephenlowry@me.com

Content should reach the editors, via the office if you prefer, by Wednesday 13th June (note this is very early) so that the printed product can be ready for distributors on Friday 22nd June.

Mothers' Union

Senior Members and their host drivers met in Banbridge with the Bishop in mid May. Tea was served. Our Summer Outing began with a meal in Eight South and was followed by entertainment by the young "Academy" members of Belvoir Players.

The food was excellent, the musical "Sister Act" was enjoyed by all present, and this brought a happy end to our spring season.

We encourage members to come to the Working Brunch on 9th June when we can make our halls look their best, and help tidy the gardens around the church.

Confirmation 2018

Nine young people from Killaney and Carryduff presented themselves for confirmation at Willowfield Parish Church on Sunday 13th May at 7.00 pm.

Parishioners from St Mark's Newtownards joined ourselves and the Willowfield people to support the 30 candidates. Bishop Harold Miller had decided this year to restrict Confirmation Services to locations where parishes could assemble 12 or more candidates.

This being the case we were delighted to be able to make the short journey to Willowfield for the occasion.

As well as participation by the candidates, the service included readings by two of our Sunday School teachers, who also happened to be mother and grandmother to two of the young people: Mrs Viona Crothers and Mrs Olwen Bedwell. We thank them for their willing involvement.

Confirmation is a start rather than an end, and we look forward to engaging with these young people in the years ahead as they take their part in building the Church through their involvement in the parishes.

Killaney's 150th Anniversary Meal

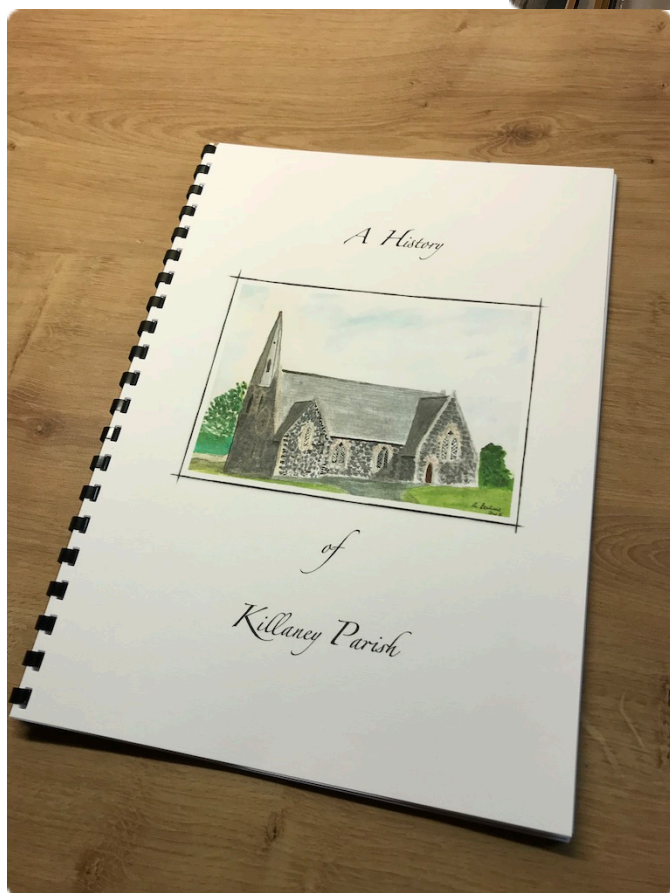

The history of St. Andrew's, Killaney took centre stage with the celebration of the 150th Anniversary at a service and meal on 29th April.

A well-attended service brought together parishioners from Killaney and Carryduff in St Andrew's. Some of our guests then joined us for a beautiful meal held in the Temple Golf and Country Club. Rounding off the meal Mr Terry Barbour related portions of the story of the church to an attentive and engaged audience.

An Anniversary Cake featuring an image of the church was enjoyed with coffee at the end of the meal.

Some fitting mementoes of the occasion were provided.

Each gentleman present was given an illustrated bookmark, and each lady present a card. Sets of cards for sale were also provided by the Art Club for the benefit of church funds.

Chief among the mementoes was the illustrated History of Killaney Parish, being a detailed tale of the major events of the area since the establishment of a parish at Killaney 900 years ago. The book is illustrated with paintings created by the Art Club. The text was provided by Mr Terry Barbour.

On display on the Cake Table were scrapbooks containing photographs, leaflets and newspaper clippings.

We thank all who arranged, designed, decorated and delivered an excellent celebration of the work of God in our parish in such a convivial way.

Getting Married?

Generation Y still hope to walk down the aisle

Millennials still value marriage with almost three quarters of those who are unmarried (72%) intending to tie the knot, according to new research by the Church of England.

While official figures recently showed a decline in the marriage rate, a study commissioned by the C of E's Life Events team suggests that 18-35-year-olds still dream of having their big day. Among those who were single, almost 6 in 10 (59%) said that they would like to marry at some point. Just over 1 in 10 (12%) of respondents said they were engaged and planning their upcoming nuptials.

Significantly, the survey also suggests that millennials attach a special importance to church weddings, with more young people preferring to marry in a church or chapel (47%) than a register office/town hall (34%).

Those who would consider a church wedding were asked why it appealed to them from a list of options. Almost a third said that it felt like a 'proper' wedding (31%). Marrying before God or receiving a blessing, was also in the top 10 (the seventh most chosen option). They were also strongly drawn to 'traditional/conventional' wedding venues (72%).

The research shows that for those considering marriage, almost one in six (17%) said that faith or religion had influenced their wedding ideas.

World Cup Fever

The former Liverpool Manager Bill Shankly famously said, 'Some people believe football is a matter of life and death, I am very disappointed with that attitude. I can assure you it is much, much more important than that!'

This month sees the start of the World Cup in Russia; a truly global event watched by billions on television. Yet this competition illustrates some key points about the Christian life. As Paul writes: 'But one thing I do: forgetting what is behind and straining towards what is ahead, I press on towards the goal to win the prize for which God has called me heavenwards in Christ Jesus.' (Philippians 3:13b,14).

A prize to be won: The dream of every player in the competition is to be able to hold up the World Cup themselves. For us the prize is the eternal life, God's gift of relationship with him for now and eternity through Jesus. But there's an important difference between football and the Christian faith. To win the World Cup you have to be good enough, while Christ's love for us is undeserved and is not dependent on how well we've done.

Training to be undertaken: If a team is going to win the World Cup, they have to train hard beforehand. Our training, as Christians, starts the moment we accept the gift of God's life. On a daily basis, we train ourselves to say no to the wrong things in our lives. As we build up our godly muscles we are better able to choose to do what is right in God's eyes. To enable us to do all this we need to engage in the spiritual disciplines of prayer, studying the Bible and being part of a church and small group. How is your training going?

Carryduff Sunday School

3rd June Prize giving in Sunday School

10th June This will be our last Sunday School before the summer break, and also our trip to Funtastic Play.

The children should attend church as usual for the early part of the service; we will then walk over to Funtastic for 11.00am. Any parent wishing to join us when we walk over will be very welcome to stay.

The children can be collected from Fantastic before 12.30pm.

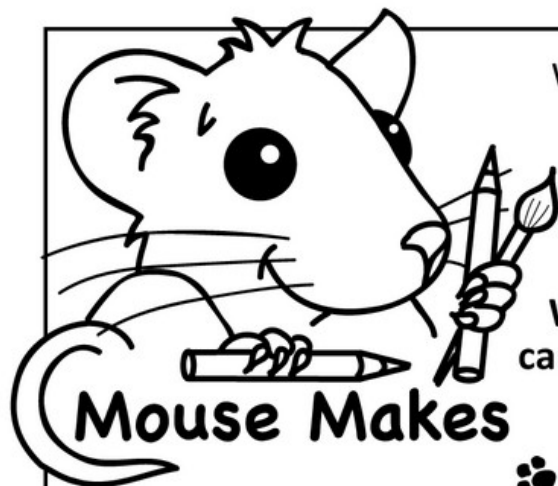

We wish all the children a happy and safe summer holiday, and we look forward to seeing you all in September.

Archbishop Justin Badi speaks:

The installation took place on 22 April. Justin Badi Arama is the fifth Archbishop and Primate of the Episcopal Church of South Sudan.

Following his consecration the new Archbishop announced a decade-long focus on the Lord's Prayer as a tool for making and teaching disciples. He wants Anglicans in South Sudan "to do the Lord's Prayer and to live the Lord's Prayer in their daily lives." The new Archbishop listed objectives that he wanted to fulfil, including the unity of the Church. "In our country and our communities, it is clear that the devil has seized the hearts and minds of our people with a spirit of tribalism, politics, division, hate and violence," he said, adding that he would make "every effort to teach and unite to see themselves as brothers and sisters in one family of God." Other objectives include the construction and improvement of church buildings, mission and evangelism, peace building and the provision of social services. "We thought having our own country would improve our situation," he said. "But our own politicians have made everything worse for their own citizens. Life for ordinary citizens is so hard and miserable. Our people continue to suffer in refugee camps, internally displaced camps and UN protection camps. Therefore, we are appealing to the opposition to put an end to this meaningless war and enable their citizens to experience what is God's peace."

Working Brunch

A great morning of sorting, tidying, cleaning and gardening is promised for Saturday 9th June at Carryduff Hall and Grounds. Bring your gardening tools and cleaning equipment so you can join the crowd assembling for a working brunch that day.

Doors will be opened at 9:00 and brunch will be served mid-morning before we all head home for a well earned rest at 12:00 mid-day.

To help with catering arrangements, a sign-up sheet will be circulating. The regulars from the men's breakfast and the Ladies Coffee Morning should take this opportunity to enjoy a free brunch and offer a few hours of shared teamwork.

Summer Sundays @ Carryduff

Summer holidays provide a time for everyone to slow down and recharge their batteries. That also applies to our Sunday School teachers.

Sunday morning services still continue. To encourage families to come to church over the summer months and to give parents the opportunity to enjoy worship we are going to organise activities - crafts & games - for any children who attend the morning service.

We need two volunteers each Sunday to make this happen.

If you feel you would like to help on one Sunday morning, please speak to Keith as soon as possible so that the rota can be arranged and printed in the summer edition of the magazine.

J Club - Junior

We returned to J Club on Friday night after the May bank holiday to do tee-shirt printing, a first for this group; we had many stunning designs along with lots of mess but the children enjoyed the event.

May's All Age Worship Sunday was a very special day for J Club, with the children taking part in the service; afterwards we enjoyed light refreshments before we travelled to COCO'S in Newcastle.

J Club provides fun activities and an opportunity for the children to learn more about Jesus each week. We have a very exciting programme planned for June. If you have a child or children who would like to attend J Club, we meet on a Friday night from 7pm until 8.30pm. Further information can be obtained by contacting Elizabeth Maginn on 07745581602.

J Club - Plus

Our group of approx 25 teenagers have enjoyed the activities and youth style of worship during May. The highlight was our special Sunday at the equestrian centre for a session of horse riding, followed by worship at Killaney Parish.

In June the young people will be thinking about ways of serving God how we can use our gifts to serve his church.

This will be an exciting development as we continue to encourage and nurture our young people to be part of the fellowship of our church.

They are also looking forward to the end of year day trip to Glasgow.

J Club Groups will host

'Win the Cup for Christ'

A Kids Football event taking place in August: Thursday 2nd, 9th & 16th from 7:00 pm to 8:30 pm

Big Match with families on Thursday 16th Aug.

More details to follow in summer magazine.

Killaney

Thank you to Florence who organised the Anniversary Dinner, with help from Alison who compiled and, along with Peggy, printed the booklet about our Church and gave everyone a lovely bookmark she had made. Thank you to Peggy and the members of Killaney Art Group who made notelets using paintings of various objects in the Church and providing the artwork for Terry's booklet.

Terry Barbour gave a very interesting talk on the history of the Church. A big thank you to Terry. An enjoyable afternoon was had by parishioners and friends and all money raised will be added to the Art/Coffee event and go towards Church Funds.

At Sunday School on Anniversary Sunday the children planted "anniversary seeds" to remind them of how God is growing his church;

ART - COFFEE

Come and view the paintings by Killaney Art Group and enjoy coffee and scones in The Hempton Hall on Saturday 2nd June between 10.30 am and 4 pm and on Sunday 3rd June between 1 pm and 4 pm - friends and visitors will also be made very welcome at the 12 o'clock service in Killaney.

Happy?

The happiest people don't necessarily have the best of everything - they just make the most of everything that comes their way.

A Sunday Prayer

Another week beginning, Lord,
Who knows what it will bring,
Will there be light and laughter
And days when hope takes wing?

Or will there be a sadness, Lord,
For things we left behind,
A path that's rough and often steep
And sometimes hard to find?

No matter what the week may hold
Whatever comes along,
Please wrap us always in Your love
And keep us safe and strong.

Changing the world

Something needs to change. Our world, in its present unsettled state, is in a bit of a mess right now. Political instability at home and abroad, civil wars in the Middle East and ever increasing levels of poverty, malnutrition and disease across much of Africa and South East Asia are all part of everyday news bulletins. It's easy to get bored with all this, but we have a Christian calling to do what we can to help - to do something to change the world.

In all this, our fascination with triviality gets seriously in the way. For example, there was a programme on Channel Five a few weeks ago called "Britain's Favourite Abba Songs." In their time Abba were both very good and undeniably popular. I liked them - and they certainly made a big impact in the pop music world. They satisfied the crowd.

I watched with genuine interest. But that interest flagged significantly when the story line went just a bit over the top. The commentator, referring to "The Winner Takes it All", made the bizarre statement that this song "changed the world." Really?

I wouldn't doubt for a moment that it was a good and very popular song with a clear social impact. Besides, it was well presented, and it clearly satisfied the crowd. However, this poses the question of the status and moral influence of popular entertainment. Surely being the most popular hit song of its time is not the same thing as changing the world.

I could be wrong, but I am inclined to think that the world of pop music, and of popular entertainment in general, takes itself much too seriously. Does the light of heaven shine through this music - or, indeed, any music?

Recently I came across the text of a BBC interview from July 1993 with the marvellously gifted classical guitarist Julian Bream. Here was a thoughtful man of prodigious talent who did not take himself too seriously and who used his gifts thoughtfully. He and his music had something important to say. He was not about simply satisfying the crowd. Instead, he was offering something of real depth and, somehow, managing to do so in the common tongue. If you have never heard him you have missed something very special.

His outlook in that interview was conducive to a frame of mind that does, indeed, let the light of heaven shine through music. If only we, as the listening public, could latch on to the real substance of what Bream had to say we would be significantly enriched.

Bream went on to express very perceptive views on the influence in our age of the electric guitar. While noting the lack of variety in its expressive range (I wholly agree) he said that “if you listen to the sound, I mean REALLY listen to it, it’s a coarse and nasty instrument. But in its context it fits the bill.” Isn’t that just another way of saying that it offers almost nothing of real depth – but that it satisfies the crowd?

We really ought to try to reach beyond this all pervasive influence on our present day culture; and consider how we might contribute more positively to changing the world. Abba’s enormously popular “The Winner Takes it All” does not change the world; it merely satisfies the crowd.

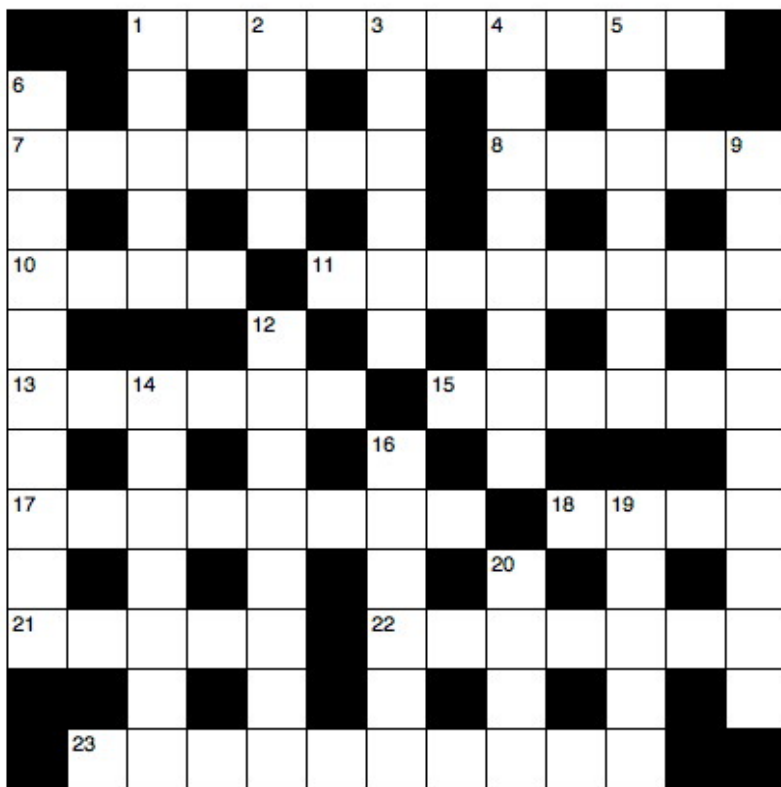

All of this calls to mind the outlook of Pilate at the dreadful mock trial of Jesus. Whatever his innermost thoughts may have been he simply pandered to the crowd. In his account of the gospel story Mark expresses it very clearly. The text reads “Wanting to satisfy the crowd Pilate released Barabbas to them. He had Jesus flogged, and handed him over to be crucified (Mark 15 v.15).”

Pilate’s decision represents a challenge to our relatively indifferent age. No item of pop music, however enthusiastically received, is likely to go far beyond satisfying the crowd; but it is our privileged duty to look beyond that towards something more genuinely uplifting.

In every sense Jesus rose well above Pilate and the brutal crowd. By all means enjoy what Abba – or Julian Bream – have given us; but let’s not just be a satisfied crowd. We have both a duty and an opportunity to lift high the cross and to do our bit to change the world.

Prayer Requests

If you would like us to pray for you or for someone you know, who is ill or coming through a difficult time, please get in touch with us.

We can be contacted in a number of ways:

- Complete the form below and have it left in the Prayer Box in the Church entrances
- For Carryduff, contact Robin, our Prayer Co-ordinator, Tel: 028 9070 2077 or at robinandjune@btinternet.com
- Contact our Rector, Church Wardens or Church office. (Contact details at back of magazine)

Please note that only Christian Names will be used during Prayers, or, if requested, an alternative name could be used to preserve anonymity. Though not essential, a contact number would be appreciated as our Prayer Co-ordinator may wish to contact you occasionally to enquire on progress.

Killaney Anniversary

Mrs Betty May "plants" the tree to mark the 150th Anniversary year at St. Andrew's, Killaney

Below we see the children who "dressed" the tree.
During the meal Mrs Anita Pileou cut the anniversary cake.
