Dear Friends

When did you first attend a wedding? Was it a family member's big day? Or perhaps it was a friend from school, or a neighbour! I have recently been trying to remember when I first saw a couple get married.

I think my first wedding was in the Church of Ireland Centre at Queen's, and it involved a girl called Joy who had lived near us a few years earlier. It felt very "grown up" to be wearing a proper shirt and tie on a Saturday, and actually to know one of the people who was getting married.

I recall the striking head gear Joy wore, which I think was a white cap which was surrounded by a veil. And, if I am not entirely mistaken, the men were wearing kilts. Maybe my memory is confusing of a series of events!

Go forward about fifty years and we come to the latest wedding. No strange clothes, just one kilt in the congregation, and two very happy young people who were turning their deep friendship into married life.

It was a wonderful day, and I wish to thank all who have sent their greetings, - including the parish vestries who sent gifts - for helping us enjoy a most special occasion. David married Sarah in Emmanuel Baptist Church, Lisburn, and, as the name suggests, we sensed the Lord being with us to bless us on the day.

Since everyone has been asking, let me add that we followed the service with a buffet lunch in the church hall, and then went to the Galgorm Resort for the Reception. The absence of any of the contemporary 'essentials' - like favours, fireworks, a Bridesmaid or a Best Man, never mind the absent late bar or bouquet tossing - had no observable impact on the day.

They forced themselves to take a honeymoon, just for appearance sake I am sure, and a few days later the first photographs of the turquoise sea on the coast of Barbados arrived on Instagram.

This was one wedding I will definitely remember, and the abiding memory will be the smiles on our son and new daughter-in-law as they made their solemn vows to one another in the presence of the people they loved. All weddings should be like that!

Thank you for your prayers for them now and in the future.

Stephen

Late Edition

Due to the late Easter break our magazine is a week later than usual this month, as promised. We apologise if our usual proof reading is not its usual standard, it having been "dun by thee ractor!"

LIFE EXPLORED

The first of seven Sunday nights with this enjoyable but challenging series begins on 5th May at St. Ignatius', Carryduff.

Instead of a service we will meet in the church for some video clips and thought provoking conversations around the theme of LIFE.

5th The GOOD GOD

12th The TRUSTWORTHY GOD

19th The GENEROUS GOD

26th The LIBERATING GOD

Please come and try it out: I think most people will get something out of it, and it may even give your faith a fresh start or help you consider the why's of life!

Starts at 6:30 ends at 7:30. A handbook will be made available for all.

Golf Club Outing

The 2019 season got off to a good start with the opening outing to Ormeau Golf Club.

The course was in great order and the weather was warm and sunny.

It was a very enjoyable day with most players posting excellent scores.

The winner was Norman Uprichard, with 37 points, pictured here with Captain Tom Mellan.

2019 promises to be another good year, with the away trip in September to play the Faldo and Castle Hume courses at Lough Erne.

In April we were at Clandeboye.

The next outing is on May 23rd to Shandon Park Golf Club.

On 20th June we hope to have our Captain's Day at Malone Golf Club.

Mothers' Union Stories

Visit from Chelsey

Chelsey Whan from Dromore Parish came to chat to us on 4th April.

Chelsey became a Christian in her early teens but it wasn't until after she'd completed her psychology degree that she began to understand what God was calling her to do.

Rather than pursue a career in counselling she went off to Australia – using all her savings – to engage in missionary work.

During a recent trip to Uganda, Chelsey focussed on the life of women. She opened our eyes to the many issues women face in that culture from early marriage and childbirth to the lack of education.

Since visiting Uganda Chelsey has made the decision to become a midwife and hopes to go back with this valuable skill.

Her devotion to God and to his work left us feeling really humble and truly inspired.

The New Irish MU President

We were all very pleased to be able to attend the Commissioning of Mrs June Butler as the new Mothers' Union President for the next three years.

Annual Trip

Thursday May 2nd saw our annual Mothers' Union outing.

We went to the Titanic area of Belfast for a trip on "The Wee Tram"

The story of the Titanic Quarter came to life on board. Chris, our guide filled the tour with local knowledge, good craic and amazing stories of the shipyard, illustrated by photography and video material on screens in each tram. We finished with coffee and tray bakes in The Dock Café.

The event took place on 24th March

June has been a source of great encouragement and inspiration for our diocese when she was leading us

Easter Vestry Appointments

DAFFADOWNDILLY

She wore her yellow sun-bonnet,
She wore her greenest gown;
She turned to the south wind
And curtsied up and down.
She turned to the sunlight
And shook her yellow head,
And whispered to her neighbour:
"Winter is dead." (A.A. Milne)

THANK YOU

Thank you to Marie for organising the Table Quiz. £260 was raised for Church Funds.

A THOUGHT FOR CHRISTIAN AID WEEK

Half of the world has all of the food
That means you and me
Eating all day
And hiding away
From the things we don't want to see

Half of the world has little to eat
Much less than you or I
Shouldn't we care and
Shouldn't we share
So that fewer of them will die

No we won't let them go on suffering
We will help any way we can
So perhaps in the end
They'll know that they do have friends
In this great big family of man

Christian Aid Carryduff Area Collection Week (12-18 May 2019)

Scripture tells us that we should love our neighbour and that our neighbour is everyone in need. Christian Aid works hard to alleviate poverty and injustice across the world. The money raised by individuals, communities and churches in Christian Aid week can make a real difference. Over the last 15 years over £100,000 has been collected in the house to house Christian Aid Week collection in the Carryduff area!

In recent years, because some of our collectors have retired, increasing areas of Carryduff are not being covered in the house collection. In response, this year Christian Aid will be delivering a different type of donation envelope to SOME areas including large parts of the Meadowvale, Muskett and Baronscourt developments. These envelopes will NOT be collected. Instead, those receiving these envelopes (labelled with a sticker) are asked to donate by returning the envelopes to the Carryduff Pharmacy, Hillsborough Road.

Even at this late stage, the local volunteer group could still use additional help! You can help by being a collector, with 2-3 hours of your time being required in total or by delivering the new type of envelope door-to-door (and not collecting!). You can also help by encouraging the collectors, by giving generously and by praying for the work of Christian Aid. Christian Aid does marvellous work in Christ's name.

If you can help, please contact Danny Todd (Telephone 028 9081 3295) for more information.

MOVIE MOMENTS

Nick and Carol Pollard from EthosMedia.org share thought-provoking reflections on the latest films.

Celebrating difference?

'The message in this film is one of inclusion, not just accepting difference but celebrating difference' said the actor Colin Farrell at the world premiere of Disney's new film Dumbo.

In the opening scenes his character, Holt Farrier, returns from the war without one arm, which shocks his children. 'It's still me' he says, and that is perfectly true. But his follow-on 'everything is going to be just like it was before' is more wishful thinking than reality. He can no longer perform on his beloved circus horses, so is assigned to dressing as a clown and cleaning up the elephants' dung.

And it is in their cage that he discovers the newborn baby elephant with big ears. The ringmaster who had hoped for a 'precious bundle of joy' calls Dumbo 'a monster... damaged goods' and tries to cover up the ears with a special bonnet, in the same way that he tries to cover up Holt's missing arm with a fake one.

Dumbo is the quintessential outsider who is rejected and ridiculed just because of his looks, whilst Holt also faces his own rejection because of his disability. Tim Burton, who directed the film, not only brings to it his well-known talent for the fantastical but also his skill in provoking the audience to think about the value of the outsider – those who don't fit the popular mould. And as the film progresses, Dumbo's large ears enable him to rescue others in a dramatic scene in which Holt also plays a key role, regardless of his disability.

So, we are caused to think about the value of 'difference'. If others make us feel unhappy with how we look, or if we face sudden changes to our bodies, do we feel pressured to cover up and try to continue just like we were before? Or can we celebrate the differences and embrace the changes, bringing them out into the open and using them for the good of others?

Tony Horsfall considers the fire at Notre Dame

God among the ruins

The tragic fire at Note Dame Cathedral shocked the whole world. Seeing such a magnificent building engulfed in flames saddened all who saw the devastation unfold. It was a monumental blow to the nation of France. It will take years to rebuild this famous place of worship.

One striking image from the fire showed the interior of the church scorched and ruined, its art treasures lost, its contents still smouldering. But high up in the background, unbowed by the flames, stands a golden cross, brightly shining in the darkness of the surrounding debris.

Since the fire took place at Easter, it is hard not to see this picture as a parable. One Anglican vicar made this comment: 'Notice what is left inside, untouched, after the destruction of all sorts of 'priceless' works of arts at Norte Dame Cathedral? The Cross. What an image for Holy Week and what a picture to describe secular Western Europe.'

As I pondered the picture it spoke to me of the abiding value of the Cross. The words of a hymn came to mind:

In the cross of Christ I glory,
Tow'ring o'er the wrecks of time;
All the light of sacred story
Gathers round its head sublime.

The place of worship may be destroyed, but not the God we worship. The message of the Cross, at the centre of our faith, remains a timeless, undamaged truth.

The hymn continues:

When the woes of life o'ertake me,
Hopes deceive, and fears annoy,
Never shall the cross forsake me,
Lo! It glows with peace and joy.

Even among the ruins of our own lives the Cross stands tall, reminding us of the presence of God and His grip on our lives.

Elijah in our Time

Not everyone would know that the prophet Elijah made a spectacular appearance in Birmingham in 1846.

I suppose it's hard to believe that this most courageous (and often frightened) prophet of Old Testament times could reappear in a much later age. How could this be?

Elijah lived during a very unsettled time in the history of the Jewish people and found himself dangerously at odds with Ahab the king of Israel during the period 874-853 BC. In brief, Ahab had married Jezebel, a princess from the land of Tyre and Sidon. This was, in essence, a political alliance between neighbouring countries; but it brought about a serious spiritual conflict between church and state.

Jezebel introduced Baal worship and the kingdom of Israel became overrun by the prophets of Baal and their idols. Ultimately it seemed that Elijah was the only one who stood up against them in defence of the one true God – and there was trouble ahead. There is a serious drought and Elijah says to Ahab “As the Lord, the God of Israel, lives, whom I serve, there will be neither dew nor rain in the next few years except at my word (1 Kings 17 v.1).”

The drought took hold across the land and Elijah, directed by the word of God, hid himself in a valley east of the Jordan. Here he was fed by ravens and, later, looked after by a widow in Sidon. Meanwhile, although there was a severe famine, the prophets of Baal prospered and Jezebel brought about the killing of the Lord's prophets.

Eventually a very frightened Elijah confronts the prophets of Baal – all 450 of them – and challenges them to call upon Baal to light a sacrifice. Elijah would prepare a similar sacrifice and call upon the true God of Israel to light the fire. The outcome was that no matter what the prophets of Baal tried, their sacrifice would not burn. Elijah then prayed to the true God saying “.....O Lord, answer me, so these people will know that You, O Lord, are God (1 Kings 18v.37).” In response the fire of the Lord burned up the sacrifice. Following this the prophets of Baal were discredited and slaughtered – Old Testament times were brutal.

Things happened quickly after that. The rains came for the first time in three years. Jezebel blamed Elijah for the drought and sought to have him executed. Afraid and deeply depressed he fled for his life, travelling for forty days until he reached Horeb, the mount of God.

It was here that the writer of 1 Kings tells us that a powerful wind, an earthquake and then a fire occurred; and after the fire came the still small voice of God (1 Kings 19 v.12). Elijah is restored.

The whole dramatic story was set dramatically to music by Felix Mendelssohn. The music features great choruses of the people singing biblical texts such as: "Baal we cry to thee, hear and answer (1 Kings 18 v.26)"; "The fire descends from Heaven (1 Kings 18 v.38-39)"; "Thanks be to God, he laveth the thirsty land (adapted from Psalm 93 v.3)" and "He that shall endure to the end shall be saved (Matthew 24 v.13)."

Mendelssohn's music is thrilling and involving, at times making a powerful sound and, sometimes, a penetrating whisper. It was this music that received its first, rapturous performance in Birmingham in 1846: and you can hear it too. Elijah is coming to Belfast. This great story of the battle between good and evil will be presented by the 120 strong Belfast Philharmonic Choir and the Ulster Orchestra in the Ulster Hall at 7.45 pm on Friday 7 June. It would be great to see you there.

Denis Carson

Laodicean fervour?

The Laodicean church is described in the Bible in the book of The Revelation as being lukewarm. If the Laodiceans were to have a hymnal, suitable for their conviction, here's a list of some of the hymns it may contain:

O Come Let Us Ignore Him.

Oh, for a Couple of Tongues to Sing

Part of the Way with Jesus

Pillow of Ages, Fluffed for Me

Precious Lord, Take My Finger

Sit Up, Sit up for Jesus

Church council

The minister was praising his church council. "Unlike others I have known, where half the council does all the work and the other half are hopeless, in this church it is completely the reverse!"

To travel hopefully

Seasoned travellers, the missionary and his wife went to book reservations at the airlines counter. They humbly requested: "Two tickets to wherever our luggage is going."

Crowd

The new minister, encouraged by the numbers in church for his first sermon, began: "I have never had the pleasure of preaching to such a dense crowd before."

Nun

A sister from a local convent became a certified accountant to help small shop owners manage their finances better. The title of her business? 'Nun of Your Business.'

With school-days in mind...

A little girl after her geography exam: "Please God make Copenhagen the capital of Japan – at least for this month."

Maundy Thursday Meal

Almost 40 parishioners enjoying a meal & communion on Maundy Thursday.

Easter Breakfast

It was wonderful to have 38 parishioners of all ages attend the Easter Morning Breakfast.

Thanks to everyone who attended and we look forward to doing it all over again in Easter 2020

30 April	Robert Wilson, Lenaghan Crescent, Belfast

"Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord."

Remembering friends

Valerie Sheils (nee Thompson), was raised in Stranmillis, Belfast. Upon leaving school she graduated in secretarial skills and began work at Belfast Tech. She was the principal's secretary there and, later, at the Art College in York St.

In the course of her work she welcomed Andrew Sheils from Sunderland to the staff of the college. After several years Andrew popped the question and he and Valerie were married in St Bartholomew's Church in Stranmillis in 1971. She was cub pack leader there. They moved to Ballylesson and, in the midst of enjoying the life there, she became secretary of the Select Vestry.

In the mid seventies Andrew and Valerie had bought their first home, Bow Cottage, which was in the process of being refurbished, a task which they continued until it was the lovely home it has been for them in the forty years since.

Some years later she joined the parish of Killaney. St Andrew's was to be the place of worship where she again contributed greatly to the life of her local church, through worshipping there, serving on the vestry and supporting every little thing that went on. In the midst of her serious illness and declining health she still tried to attend here, and her place will not be "filled" however long we wait.

Her love of the garden was very obvious, and the birds and beasts which she fed each day in the garden will miss her attention to detail. The robins whom she fed from her hands were nature's way of expressing its appreciation of how gentle and kind she was.

We have lost a gracious and godly friend, a diligent and tireless worker, a kind and generous member of our community and we register our thanks to her Almighty God today. We extend our sympathy to Andrew, her brother Bill, and the family circle.

Martha Earney

Martha Earney (nee McMaster) was from Riverside, a little community in Antrim.

Among the families living there, there was a great sense of support and camaraderie; each family used their resources to help one another out, a sense of community which inspired and enriched Martha's outlook on life. At around 14 she began work at Antrim Weaving Company, producing linen for use in the various factories of the time. She wasn't a machinist there for long as her father inherited some land in Killinchy and the family moved.

She and her husband Fred were blessed with two children: Thomas and Meta.

Later Martha, her mum and her children moved to Creevy Road to be near her sister and so the Earney connection began here. She moved to her current home in 1989 due to illness, and yet, in 2016, on her ninetieth birthday, she was pictured playing football with her great grandchild.

She could hold her own in company and enjoyed life at St Andrew's but was more than happy to live life quietly. She was admitted to Lisburn Intermediate Care two years ago where she received an exceptional level of care and kindness.

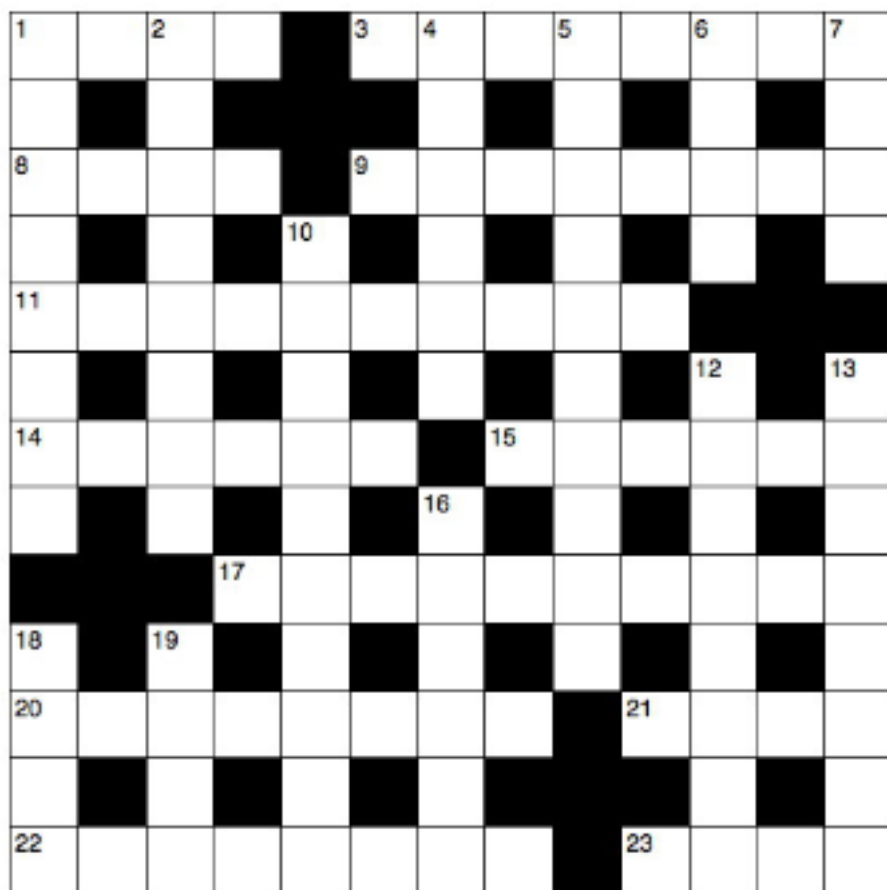

We extend our sympathy to her son Thomas, and daughter, Meta and their families at this time of parting.

Robert Wilson

It was with sadness that the family of the late Bertie Wilson gathered at St. Andrew's, Killaney recently to honour his passing, and to give thanks to God for his life. Robert is survived by just one of his siblings and we extend our sympathy to Marion in the midst of a difficult time of loss.

Bertie was from Omagh. This was where he first met Dorothy, in childhood. She was later to become his wife. They lived in Belvoir and Newtownbreda throughout their long and happy marriage. In his working career Bertie was an able salesman and in his family life was a great lover of Alsatian dogs and the garden. He bore his short illness with great courage.

Recently Bertie was delighted to receive news of the birth, in February, of Zara, his first great grand child. To his wife, Dorothy, his daughters, grand-children, and little Zara we extend our heartfelt sympathy.

Good Friday Morning:

The children of the parish met for worship and activities on Good Friday morning. We thank the leaders and children for making this such a special occasion.
